

Kratie, Kratie Province, Cambodia

A slow-paced colonial river town on the Mekong, Kratie draws river cruisers for one thing above all — the chance to see critically endangered Irrawaddy dolphins just upstream, while the French-shuttered riverfront and car-free island life fill out a deeply unhurried day.

-  Tendered ashore (river cruise only)
-  Typical call: 6-8 hrs
-  USD widely accepted
-  Khmer (English in tourist areas)
-  Irrawaddy dolphin habitat

TOP THINGS TO DO

- Irrawaddy Dolphin Watching at Kampi — Tuk-tuk 15km north to the Kampi pool, then board a small motorized boat with a local captain who cuts the engine near...
- Cycling Koh Trong Island — A 5-minute ferry from the promenade ($1) drops you on this car-free river island.
- Kratie Colonial Town Walk — The riverfront promenade and French Quarter behind it preserve yellow-and-blue shuttered colonial buildings largely...
- Phnom Sambok Temple Hike — An 11km tuk-tuk ride north (often combined with the dolphin tour) brings you to a forested hill topped by a colorful...
- Mekong Turtle Conservation Centre (Sambor) — A longer 36km excursion north to Wat Sorsor Muoy Roy (the 100 Pillar Pagoda) — a vast modern temple built on the site...

BEST WALKS

- Riverfront Promenade & French Quarter 1.5 km · 30 min · Easy — From the tender landing steps, walk south along the Mekong promenade past colonial facades to the central market, then loop back...
- Riverfront to Wat Rokakandal 6 km round trip · 1.5 hrs · Easy (flat road) — Head south on the riverside road from the promenade for 3km to reach one of Cambodia's oldest wooden temples.
