KNOW BEFORE YOU GO

- Cashless Norway: You don't need Norwegian Krone. Every shop, café, museum, and taxi takes Visa/Mastercard and Apple Pay. Skip the currency exchange entirely.
- Short stops are common: Hurtigruten and Havila ships typically call for only 1–2 hours. Head straight to the Hurtigruten Museum first — it's literally next to the gangway.
- Layer up: Even in summer, Vesterålen weather is unpredictable — temperatures 10–15°C with wind and rain possible any day. A windproof jacket is essential.
- Midnight Sun: From late May through mid-July, the sun doesn't set. The outdoor scenery and beach at Taen are especially magical in the long Arctic evening light.
- Try a Skolebrød: Look for a local bakery and grab a Skolebrød — a cardamom bun with custard and coconut — or a waffle with brunost (sweet brown goat's cheese). Very Norwegian.
- Sundays: Grocery stores and most retail close on Sundays by law. The Hurtigruten Museum, cafés, and souvenir shops serving cruise passengers typically remain open.
